Fill your pot with potting soil, leaving a half-inch of room at the top of the pot.

Take a small handful of seeds and place them just below the surface of the potting soil. Make sure they are covered, but not planted too deep.

Water your pot every day until the grass shoots begin to appear. Do not water it too much, just lightly dampen the soil. Allow the shoots to grow to a height of about 3 or 4 inches, and then place the pot where your cat can enjoy the tender shoots.
